Good morning,

I spoke with [REDACTED] this morning. He asked me to pass on their appreciation for the support you have shown and for the package they recently received. [REDACTED] reports they all continue doing well and spirits remain high, though he admitted he is starting to look forward to coming home.

They did have another active day yesterday, and predict one today as well. Groups are gathering in and along the river and getting more intense again. [REDACTED] indicated the cold does seem to be wearing on activists and they are beginning to appear worn, sick, and tired.

Our troopers have been assigned as an OC team both of these days. So far, they have not had to use any force or deploy any OC or other munitions although other agencies have been forced to do so.
